October 14 Set for Referendum on Bond Issue

Voters Asked to Approve Loan of $20,000 for Fire Station

Voters of Antioch are asked to go to the polls Tuesday, Oct. 14 to approve a $20,000 bond issue so that the new fire station can be built.

Village trustees meeting Monday evening in special session agreed on the date and planned for the balloting at the city hall.

Passage of the bond issue has become imperative.

The fire department is in the process of buying a new truck which cannot be housed in the present fire house because of its size.

Knowing this, the board has repeated its earlier attempt to get bids on the construction of the new building on the park lot facing Orchard st., and hopes to let a contract even before the citizens go to the polls.

The board's action is not a squeeze play on the part of the taxpayers, the trustees said, but an emergency measure decided upon after it was found that with rising prices, moneys on hand were insufficient to meet the cost. At the same time it was acknowledged that the money in the treasury of the fire department should be used for equipment of the building rather than for the building itself.

The ballots cast at the referendum will mean acknowledgement of an unfavorable situation and the approval of voters on the action of the board which in turn was forced upon it by the breakdown of the old fire truck and the purchase of a new one. "We know this isn't the time to build," said President George Bartlett, "but there isn't anything else we can do," he admitted, and members of the village board and the fire department are in unanimous agreement with him.

All parts not absolutely necessary to the building have been eliminated for the time being from the proposed new fire house. They will be added when costs are less if desired.

Although a new city hall is also contemplated, the trustees expect to get along for a while in their present building until prices of construction come down.

Unlike other villages, Antioch has no indebtedness at present.

Former Antioch Player in Lineup of Waukegan Merchants Next Sunday

The Waukegan Merchants football team will play the Great Lakes Naval Training Center team on Friday evening, Oct. 3, at Weiss Field, Waukegan.

Starting in the star studded Waukegan lineup will be George Sterbenz, former Antioch High school star. He will be in the full back spot, flanked by Lennie Latz, former Colorado State half back and Jim Hill, Negro Speedster.

Other backfield men with the merchants are Brent Emerick of Lake Forest, Bill Shepard of Texas Teachers, Dick Shultis and Jim Kennedy of Druce Lake.

The Waukegan team has players from throughout the county and is really a team of outstanding Lake County athletes. They were undefeated last season in twelve games and opened their 1947 play against Des Moines All Stars, Iowa 1946 State Champions three weeks ago. These two undefeated 1946 teams played to a 13-13 tie.

The Waukegan team defeated the sailors last year and the gobs are anxious to upset the Waukeganites.

A group of more than 40 Marching Maporines, precision marching and baton twirling artists, will furnish the between half entertainment. A capacity crowd is expected to take in the Great Lakes game.

Well Painted Mail Boxes Conveniently Placed Are Credit to Antioch Area

Rural patrons of the Antioch post-office have done much in recent years to cooperate in making their mail boxes more convenient for mail carriers, according to Postmaster Roy Kufak. They have painted their boxes and supports to add to the appearance of their property and to the roads on which they are located. Also their names have been painted on these boxes to assist the carriers and their substitutes in delivering the mails. This is invaluable when one realizes that there are 1600 rural mail boxes in this community, Kufak said.

Interested persons in the subdivisions have offered assistance and are asking information on grouping of rural boxes, a very worthy aid for saving time in serving the routes and for beautifying the surroundings of such subdivisions.

A remark to the postmaster was made recently to the effect that few mail boxes in some other communities had their owner's names on them or presented a neat appearance on the roadside. The rural patrons of Antioch are to be congratulated on what has been done although there is considerable left to be done, the postmaster said.

It is noted that although patrons own their rural mail boxes, it is a federal offense to tamper with them. There has been some complaint west of the village of mutilating of mail boxes. Rifling and tampering is also unlawful. With Halloween not too far distant, mischief makers are especially warned.

The addition of another rural route to this office will change the correct address of many of our patrons. That portion of present rural route 2 west of the village serving the people on the north end of Lake Marie and the south shore of Lake Catherine and all of Channel Lake except the Sylvan Beach road will become route 3 again.

Those patrons, who will be required to move their mail boxes as advised by mail, to different locations, are being asked to group them wherever possible with their closest neighbors on a single stand. This would provide for a better service and a more attractive community.

Grayslake Next Foe of Sequoits Here Friday, Game at Gurnee a Loss

Antioch High school expects to break into the victory column tomorrow evening when its football team meets Grayslake here under the lights. It will not be an easy game, Coach Kruzan admits, but with the Sequoits putting up the same brand of ball they did last week they should come out on the long end of the score.

Antioch could not compete with the heavier and more experienced line of Warren Township High school at Gurnee last Friday afternoon and as the result were defeated 27 to 7. The Blue Devils were able to average four yards for their 18 ball carrying efforts and most of them were through the line.

Game Totals

Warren (27): Yds. Scrimmage 229; first downs 14; passes attempted, 1; passes completed, 0; yds. gained passing, 0; penalties, 6 for 50 yards; punts, 1 for 30 yds.; kick-offs, 5 for 40 yd. average; kick-off return 2 for 23 yd. average; pass interception, 1; fumbles, 5; fumble recovery, 6.

Antioch (7): Yds. Scrimmage, 72; first downs, 4; passes attempted, 14; passes completed, 3; yds. gained passing, 24; penalties, 2 for 20 yards; punts, 4 for 24 yd. average; kick-offs, 2 for 32 yd. average; kick-off return, 5 for 10 yd. average; pass interception, 0; fumbles, 4; fumble recovery, 3.

Fall arrived on the calendar Wednesday and with it decidedly cold weather. During the coming week on standard time the days and nights will be equal.

Delay in Receipt of Fire Truck Expected: Election Next Month

Department to Send Two to State Convention at Mt. Vernon

The fire department saw further delay in the receipt of their new truck this week when at their meeting Tuesday evening they were told that it would be necessary to obtain bids for the body and pump. The chassis already has been obtained.

With few equipment companies making fire trucks at the present time the firemen think that it will be lucky to get their equipment from one reliable firm let alone competitive bids.

The firemen will vote twice October 14. They will first vote on the bond issue for their new fire station and will then meet at night to elect new officers.

The department plans to send two delegates to the state convention at Mt. Vernon, Ill., Oct. 16. The convention was first set for mid-state, but for some reason or other the place was changed at the last minute.

James McMillen gave his report on the county meeting held at Gurnee Monday night. The legal rights of firemen was a subject brought to the attention of the firemen by a speaker from Abbott Laboratories.

That no one but the fire chief may have a red light on his automobile and he only at the permission of the president of the village is a ruling that the firemen were impressed with. Some Antioch firemen who have been carrying a red light on their private cars have been stopped in Waukegan and Chicago and told to get rid of them or cover them up.

The next county meeting will be at Round Lake.

George W. Thomas, 67, Dies of Heart Attack, Funeral Service Today

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. today for George W. Thomas, 67, of 264 Park Ave., who died at 10:15 p. m. Monday following a heart attack.

He spent the day at his work at the Heron mink ranch at Kansasville, Wis., and apparently was in good health when he retired. He was stricken and death came before a physician arrived.

Born in Crawfordville, Ind., Mr. Thomas had lived in Antioch since last October. Prior to that he lived in Salem, Wis., 22 years.

He was a member of the Kenosha unit of the 40 and over club of America.

Surviving are the wife, Frances, and a son, Joseph, of Dunellon, Fla.

Lake County 4-H Clubs Will Meet Tomorrow To Plan Scrap Paper Drive

All agricultural and home economics 4-H club leaders will meet at the Farm Bureau hall, Friday evening, at 8:00 p. m. to map plans for a county wide waste paper drive according to Ray T. Nicholas, farm adviser, and Helen Volk, home adviser.

The waste paper drive is part of a county 4-H club fund-raising campaign, the proceeds of which will be used to develop the state 4-H club memorial camp. To date, Lake County 4-H Clubs and club members have turned in a little more than $1100.00. When any one county turns in $1500.00 a cabin in the camp will be named for the county.

Several Illinois counties have already reached the goal. Preliminary plans call for the campaign to run until Saturday, November 1, 1947. Since every farm home will be contacted, all Lake County farmers are asked to cooperate by saving every scrap of waste paper.

When The Voters Decide

At frequent intervals, American citizens have the opportunity to vote on issues which in one way or another involve private ownership and operation of electric utilities. And in the majority of instances private enterprise is given the green light.

Recently in Oklahoma, six small towns voted on whether or not to extend the franchises of a large power company. A total of 977 people voted—and 972 of them voted "yes". The utility was favored at the remarkable odds of 200 to one!

Literally thousands of elections have been held to decide such issues as proposed municipal plants, public power districts, etc. Year in and year out, in most cases, the popular verdict has been against public ownership—often by extremely heavy majorities.

Public opinion polls periodically ask a cross section of the American people if they desire or do not desire socialization of the electric power industry. In every case, the answer has been no—and always by a substantial margin.

All the factual evidence indicates that the American people prefer the publicly-regulated, heavily-taxed business-managed utility companies to the unregulated, tax-exempt, bureaucratically-managed systems. The demand for socialized power is almost entirely a political demand extended by those who would profit from it in patronage and political advantage.

For Value Received

Among criticisms commonly heard in regard to the American medical system, are unavailability of doctors in sparsely settled areas, high costs, and inadequate facilities. Those who are unable to see anything good in established American institutions such as medicine, have magnified these criticisms to the point where many people have lost perspective.

A short time ago, to illustrate a few of the good points in our medical system, a party of vacationists was cruising on a small boat in the northwestern corner of the State of Washington, among the San Juan Islands. It is a remote area. One evening a small child in the party developed a high fever. By the time the nearest island village was reached, it was very late. The parents located a doctor who came to the boat immediately and spent nearly two hours with the child. He had just completed a "residency" with a well known hospital. When questioned about local hospital facilities, he said there were none but that he cooperated closely with the Coast Guard. Emergency cases were taken to the mainland an hour or so away by high-speed cutter. His personal interest in the child was apparent. He returned home at 1 a. m., but was back at the boat at 7 a. m. for a final check.

The next night the party and the little patient were once more moored in an out-of-the-way spot. Again it was necessary to call a doctor and again an efficient, courteous individual appeared late at night. This time arrangements were made for admission to a Seattle hospital at 2 a. m., where still another doctor took immediate charge. Complete examinations covering a thirty-six-hour period followed. Through it all appeared the same personal concern for a patient's welfare.

Finally, the patient was released. Hospital expenses were disposed of without red tape, under the Blue Cross plan. Total doctor bills, night calls and all, involving three different doctors who had spent in the aggregate some thirty years preparing to follow their profession, amounted to slightly over thirty dollars.

The next time you hear a "reformer" condemn the American medical system, you should ask yourself in all sincerity how many other callings—lay or professional—give a greater measure of service, dollar for dollar, than your doctor.

Where Everyone Gains

Under the competitive free enterprise system industry must constantly seek ways to make a better product—or to make an old product more attractive to the consumer.

Coal, which seeks markets in competition with oil, gas and other fuels, is an interesting current example of that truism.

Throughout the country, coal dealers, working in cooperation with coal producers, have sought to "wrap coal in a better package"—and to so make it a more desirable fuel in the eyes of the home and business user. This "better package" has taken a number of forms. Stress is laid on clean, careful deliveries, so that the only evidence the customer has that a delivery has been made is a full coal bin. Twenty-four-hour round-the-clock emergency service has been widely adopted. Retail coal merchants are giving objective counsel on heating problems and the selection of new coal-burning equipment. Many merchants are also offering an inclusive service for cleaning and conditioning coal heating systems, thus assuring the owner the best possible result with the lowest possible coal consumption.

Work such as this protects and expands markets for industry, helps assure steady employment, and, finally, performs a definite money-saving service for the consumer of the product. It is a case where everyone gains—and the competitive system, that typically American phenomenon, is responsible for it.
